

KASF 2026 looms on the horizon.

The time has come to begin preparations to name a successor. To that end, I put forth this challenge in the following format:

Create two pies (or something that could be defined as a pie - a baked dish with a crust of dough and a filling, which can be sweet or savory. The pastry crust can be a single bottom crust, a double crust enclosing the filling, or a combination like a lattice). One must be sweet, the other must be savory. Please provide two copies of your documentation (one of which should not mention your name to ensure a blind tasting).

In good sport, I shall join you in this endeavor, though I will not be in the running to be named Royal Baker. I would not have you do something that I am not willing to undergo myself.

If you have questions or intend to enter this competition, please email me at royalbaker@moas.atlantia.sca.org.
